Additional Transfer Requirements

- The Department of Poultry Science is looking for students who are interested in pursuing our degree as a focus. The essay and supporting materials should reflect that the student is interested in pursuing our degree.
- Meeting minimum requirements does not guarantee admission. The entire record is reviewed for consistency in coursework and grades.

Additional Information

- Applicants should be serious about earning a degree in Poultry Science.
- Meeting with an academic advisor or program coordinator in Poultry Science is strongly recommended prior to application.
- Transfer applicants are instructed NOT to accept transfer admission to any major with the expectation of later applying for an on-campus change of major.
- Essay should include how and why the student chose Poultry Science, what the student plans to do with Poultry Science after they graduate, and if they have had any previous experience with poultry.

Career & Educational Opportunities

Growth of the poultry industry has created the need for scientific, technical, and business knowledge in the various fields important to successful poultry production. Poultry, including meat and eggs, is a major commodity. Graduates with this major finish with knowledge of production, processing, business management, and research developments in genetics and physiology.
